Today is Divine Mercy Sunday. In the year 2000, Faustina Kowalska was canonized. At the canonization Mass, Saint John Paul II, then Pope, announced that the Church would ever recognize the Second Sunday of Easter as Divine Mercy Sunday. Saint Faustina's life is a beautiful example of what it means to place complete trust in God and in His merciful love for every human being.

Prayer of the Week

Merciful and compassionate Father, as one who longs to be a fitting disciple, I call upon You to grant me the strength to share the gift of Your love with others. May Your unconditional love for me inspire me to look past others' flaws and to use the power of forgiveness to make a change in my own little world and in the world at large. Through our Lord Jesus Christ, Your Son, Who lives and reigns with You in the unity of the Holy Spirit, one God, forever and ever.

The Gifts of Bread and Wine to be consecrated during the week of April 24
are in loving memory of Margaret Rosato
as offered by friends Elizabeth and Joan.

Gospel Reading

Today we hear the story of Doubting Thomas.
Challenging things do happen in our lives, sometimes pulling us away from our faith and even from our trust in God. Let us ask Saint Thomas to pray for us to get through the tough patches in our lives. In doing so, our doubt can be diminished and our faith enhanced so that with St.

Thomas we can say, "My Lord and my God."

As stewards of our faith, let us put the gift of faith to good use. Welcome this Divine Mercy Sunday as an opportunity to cultivate the practice of mercy in our homes, work places, schools, and in the community at large.
